Faculty

Principal

To lead a school such as Cleveland in a thorough fashion is not an easy task. Yet, our genial principal, Mr. Davis, has handled the huge job with skill. Watching student reactions, keeping a guarded eye on the budget, and seeing that everyone is content are but a few of the items that keeps him busy.

Mr. Davis has become to the students a symbol of how they should feel towards Cleveland. Our principal can be found rooting with the best at the football games, attending school functions and always urging the students and faculty to take interest in what Cleveland does and the welfare of all. He speaks of Grover Cleveland high with pride in his voice and in doing so, gives the students a pride in him—in their principal who is so up on things.

As chief over the rest of the faculty he has a commendable staff below him. Everyone remarks how close the teacher-student relationship is. That, it seems, is the greatest compliment that can be given: to say that our teachers, rather than being solely disciplinarians, are friends.

It is a known fact that it is much harder—it takes more knowledge of human nature—to be liked and respected while filling the role of disciplinarian. For, it is seldom that filling such a role is pleasant. Too many students must be called into line for cutting classes, skipping school, or being continually tardy or absent.

Mr. Imus deserves applause for doing his work with tact and understanding. Considering the welfare of the school and the students first, he performs his duties with quiet efficiency.

Understandably, Mr. Imus' office and the imposing man who works there fill the students with fear and dread when they are "called in." However, while the reason for being sent to him may not be a pleasant matter, the student is met with neither paddle nor threats, but by a man who first wants to work out the problem, and second, see if there isn't some way that the recommendation handed out will be beneficial.

Mr. Imus will always be in the memories of this year's graduating class when they remember the "good old days."

Seniors

PAT ALLEN, DON RICE, MISS RAINE, KAY KRUGER, NORM DAVIS

MISS RAINE, VICTOR NELSON, PAT SULLIVAN, MIMI BELTRAMO, KAY KRUEGER

The sand is almost through the hour glass and now, as we cling tenaciously to the last minutes of four wonderful years, the seniors think of knowledge learned and fun lived and then relived in memories. Chaucer, how to bisect a triangle and the uses of the verb are intermixed with thoughts about the fabulous P.-T.A. dances, lunch time at Louie's, and just walking down the hall greeting one's many friends with a quick smile and knowing "hello."

The upper part of the hour glass is almost empty now. And so, we bid adieu to Cleveland High School, our home for four scintillating, fun-filled years.

In Memoriam

CASSELMAN, BONITA, Bonnie, Honor Society, Debate, Entre Nous Tres.

"Earth has one angel less, and heaven one more since yesterday. Already, kneeling at the throne, she has received her welcome, and is resting on the bosom of her Saviour."—Hawthorne.

Juniors

Standing—MRS. MALCOLM, CAROL RESNER, MARY NEILSON. Sitting—DERYL MOSES, FRED KUHBLANK

Keeping in step with the seniors were the guys and gals of this year's junior class. Not only did these activity-minded students capably take over their duties, but they also had sufficient energy to make a name for themselves through the Boys' Club, Girls' Club, Torch Society, the sports department and in all other Cleveland promoted groups.

Perhaps the present seniors are gasping at the thought of leaving the school in the hands of students who appear to them inexperienced and rather naive. However, after looking over the records, their fears depart. This class—the class of '52—will be hard to beat.

Their hour glass of high school years is also running out. Just one year left . . .

Wow! Take a look at this year's sophomore class. This is a class worth a stop and stare. They are active—their "doings" makes one gasp, they are school-spirited and, in conclusion, what a group of students!!

Their first big activity was a party for only sophomore students. With the theme, "Anchors Away," they planned nautical entertainment, refreshments, decorations and dancing. All sophomores agreed it was a social function worth a few brags!

On Cleveland Day this up-and-coming group took over the refreshments in the cafeteria and had something new worked up in the way of "entertainment while you eat."

Three of the scintillating song leaders are members of the brightly-shining class of '53. Take a look at the cheer leaders, too.

The Girls' Club, Boys' Club and Torch Club have hard-working members from this class. However, their desire to serve does not stop with these groups. All the school activities, including the sports department, are places for sophomore operations.

Besides the work of these students, they strongly support all school functions from the P.-T.A. dances at Holly Park to the games: football, basketball and baseball. The sophomores take pride in attending Cleveland and are ever-ready to support the alma mater!

In two years Cleveland will be their school to lead. No one is worried for they are sure to do a fine job considering the record the class of '53 has made.

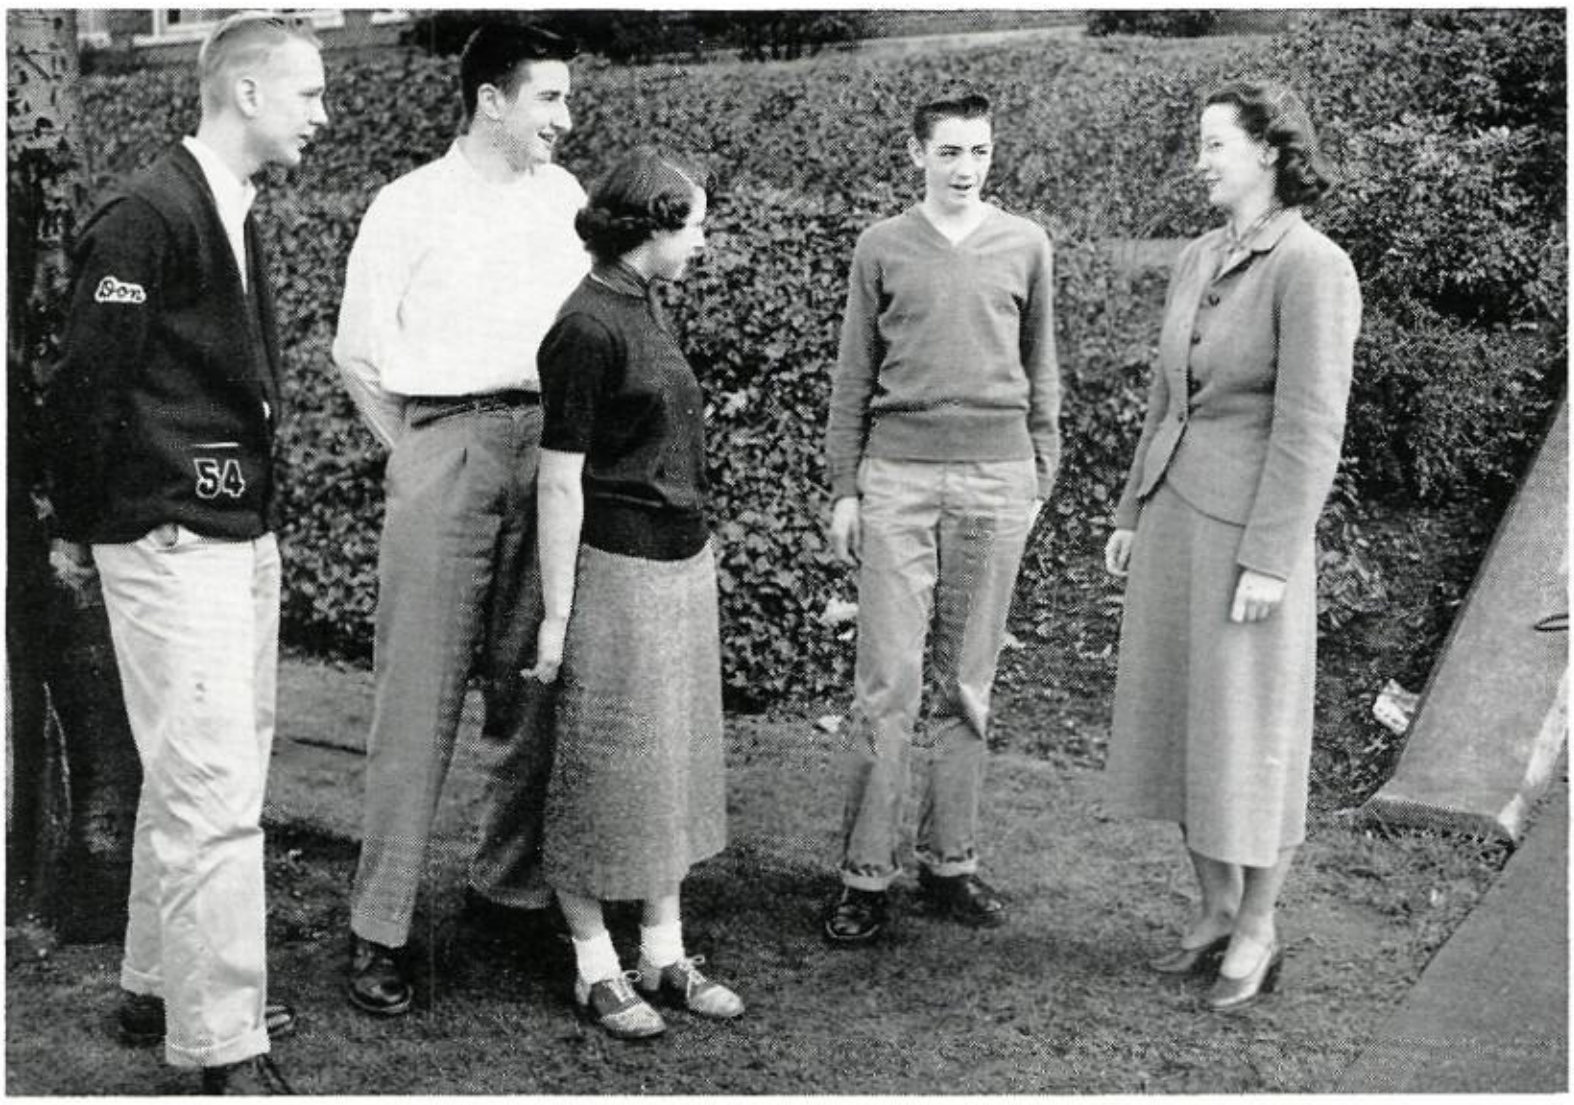
Freshmen



DON LAUHON, BOB FOSSATTI, PAUL REDMOND, ANITA COLLINS, MISS KWAPIL

Ah to be a freshman again! To have three wonderful years to look forward to! To be still a little green, to be still a little shy and to repeat, those three years to live . . .

The freshmen class this year is made up of students who will do much for Cleveland talent, a willingness to serve, a pride in their alma mater—these are the characteristics of our average freshmen.

They prove their worth from the beginning when a large number of the boys turned out for football in the fall. In three years the school will have capable stand-ins for '51's Gagliardi, Redmond, Duncan, and Reese. Talent—are the freshmen talented! After watching their performances in "The Cleveland Story" and Cleveland Day assembly all agree that their Senior Play will be a wow and sure 'nuff in their class is probably another Katherine Cornell or Moliere. Where would the Girls' Club be without the collosal Freshmen Auxiliary? The busy, sweet, and hard-working frosh gals do—on the Auxiliary —the dirty work for other committees. For this, praise is their only reward. Certainly one of the many committee members will be an outstanding Girls' Club officer. Although Torch Club is beyond the freshmen grasp many of them are working studiously and energetically for membership next year. Without a doubt, the typical Freshman is eager to serve, talented, and proud of his school.

Yes, they have indeed shown that in three years theirs will be a senior class to compare favorably with the best preceding it.

Their hour glass, with only a fourth of the sand gone, is shining bright and new. And, in spite of the fact that the time will dull newness, it cannot dim the spirit of the class of '54.

Gridiron 1950

NICK GAGLIARDI

DAVE GUION

It is seldom that a team as good as Cleveland's 1950 football squad goes through a season not winning a game.

The team first showed its worth at the Jamboree when they played an important role on the victorious East team which pushed the West over 25 to 6. Doing their bit, the Eagles came through for 7 points.

Heartbreak was prevalent with the ever-vigilant Eagle rooters and gallant team members as all the games were close. The boys, playing their best, using their very heart and soul, failed to have the evasive Lady Luck with them.

The scores for the games were close, indicating the other teams were not playing against a pushover group of boys: Cleveland vs. West Seattle, 6 to 6; vs. Garfield, 14 to 12; vs. Franklin, 7 to 6; vs. Ballard, 6 to 0; vs. Queen Anne, 0 to 0; vs. Roosevelt, 13 to 0, vs. Lincoln, 25 to 0.

In spite of the fact that the squad was not a winner, it was rated highly. Several of the team members were recognized officially as outstanding players. All-City quarterback, Jerry Redmond, led the city in passing. Five boys made the Honorable Mention lists: Bob Hadley, Dave Guion, Jack Marti, Duane Bower, Bob Burns. Nick Gagliardi was selected team captain.

Ending in sixth place in the basketball league standings, Cleveland proved they had what it takes — that essential combination, of fleet feet, teamwork, and good players. We may not have been on top, but no one can deny that Cleveland's squad was easy to beat or without merit.

Perhaps, in the minds of some, this was the most thrilling basketball season that has been experienced thus far. It was an honor for all, but especially the team members, to play the first game in the Civic Ice Arena. We not only started the season off with a flourish, but started it with a bang by winning the first game against Lincoln. From that time on it was steady turmoil. This game won; that game was lost by a basket made in the last few seconds by an alert alien player. Each session, however, was a thriller and certainly, to the minds of all, 1951's squad and season was one of the best.

Jerry Redmond, who led throughout most of the season in points made, was selected for all-city honors. Danny Nicksich, another high scorer, made the second team. Honorable mention went to Jim Cairns who also walked off with the Inspirational Player Award.

Baseball 1951

With only two games left to play in the 1951 baseball season, Cleveland has had a thrilling, exciting and eventful season. While the records are not completed yet, enough of an indication is present to show that Cleveland's ball club is capable, quick-thinking and fast.

The hero of the squad is Benn Lamb who, while leading the city in home runs and runs batted in, is hitting a powerful .400. He, with Russ Poirier, are nominees for all-city honors.

The present statistics are as follows: Double plays, 8; doubles, 11; triples, 3; stolen bases, 8. Of the ten games played thus far, four were Eagle victories.

Eleven boys are expected to make their letters from experience gained during the season. From these ball players, seven are seniors and four are juniors. With these lettermen left for a season with great expectations —the 1952 ball club—plus the outstanding second team members, who have done exceptionally well, we can foretell that the expectations will be at least partly fulfilled.

Track 1951

While Cleveland's track season wasn't, as the Aquila goes to press, an entirely successful one in meets won, they proved, with their over-abundance of sophomore and junior members, that next year's squad will be one of the best. Even this year, though young and inexperienced, the team scored more points than in the many years preceding. In the words of Coach Surrie, "For the first time in years, Cleveland's track future looks brighter than before."

Duane Gudmondson, an all-city nominee, has proven that he can run that mile. Winning all his meets thus far, he promises to become an outstanding miler in future seasons.

Another candidate for all-city honors, Al Roberts, has shown great promise in the 100-yard dash. He is running it consistently in 10:4.

Bob Williams bestowed upon Cleveland the honor of having one of our team members tie the record for the 220 which has stood for 25 years.

The squad was captained by Ted Cook.

This year has been the most active in the history of the Big "C." Under the direction of their able president, Barbara Nelson, the club earned money from the sales of pennants, book covers, football and basketball pins and cider and doughnut sales. For the first time they published this year three papers on girls' sports. Another added attraction presented this year was bowling, theatre and roller skating parties. All city features included a Dance Symposium held here at Cleveland and an annual all-city breakfast.

Girls' Club

Back — LYNN SMITH, MISS CRIM, AILEEN CARLSON. Front — DONNA ROEDEL, BEVERLY BULLOCK, GLORIA ISERNIO.

The 1951 Girls' Club chairmen and officers may aptly be called minute maids, for they have, throughout the entire year, made the most of the school's calendar in planning projects to make Cleveland's student body a more profitable one. Some of the outstanding undertakings of these regulation-resplendent girls include the Red Cross Drive, Sportsmanship Drive, Mother-Daughter Banquet, Christmas Breakfast, Scrapbook Contest, and of course, many more things such as decorating the cafeteria, taking care of the aquarium, planning bulletin boards, keeping Middy Mary well groomed, and displaying an attractive Hobby Case. The aim of the Girls' Clubbers has been to serve; now they look back with a feeling of accomplishment.

Boys' Club

Back—BOB WAY, CHUCK PATKA, JOHN BARKER, CAM CUTLER, ROBERT MUNNOCH. Front—FRED KUHBLANK, GAIL KNAPP, MYRON ANTON, JACK STURMAN.

Showing Clevelandites that the Boys' Club is becoming bigger and better are these, the officers and committee chairmen. Men of the moment in every respect, it is noted that besides being good-looking bruisers, they have set, and followed exceedingly well, high standards for the male populace of the school to follow.

Working closely with the Girls' Club on many projects, the following were successfully sponsored through the joint cooperation of both clubs: P-TA Dances, Vocational Conference, and Courtesy Drive. However, activities were not confined to cooperation with the Girls' Club, although one of them—serving at the Mother-Daughter Banquet held April 12—was directly for the Girls' Club. Outstanding Boys' Club services of 1951 were the designing and posting of bulletin board displays, and acting as hosts to new students and at the high-spirited pep assemblies.

Because of the strides the Boys' Club has made this year, the entire school is proud of them and all boast of "our" growing organization.

Back—MR. JEROME, JERRY REDMOND
Front—PHIL LEACH, BOB TESSENDORE.

Torch Club

Time is the keynote in the lives of a Torch Clubber. Time for school service, time for classes, time for studying in earnest — a Torch Club member is good at all of these. With a group of 170, the adviser, Miss Walthew, and the officers are keeping the Honor Society active. One of the most enterprising projects was giving a scholarship to a deserving senior student.

"Hey, there, no running." "You, speed it up, this isn't a picnic, you know." As the bell resounds, a chorus of moving seats, scuffling feet and general commotion rings through the school. But, relax. It is just a fire drill and, as always, the fire squad is on the job.

Movie Squad

Kneeling — Hemenway, Mr. Gray, Macaroy.

1st Row—Railton, Burghduff, Arnswaldt, Baskin, Porad, Wilson, Dennis, Williams, LaMarche, Walker, Bosch, Torkelson, Vandemore.

Back Row—Tershin, Mason, Poynter, McGilvra, VanOver, Bruner, Ledbetter.

As audio-visual aids are becoming more a part of each class, the job of handling movie equipment and presenting the films is growing. The boys that make up the squad spend a study period each day on call. The job of the squad does not end in the classroom, though. Presenting noon movies for the enjoyment of students at minimum cost is another presentation of theirs.

Student Council

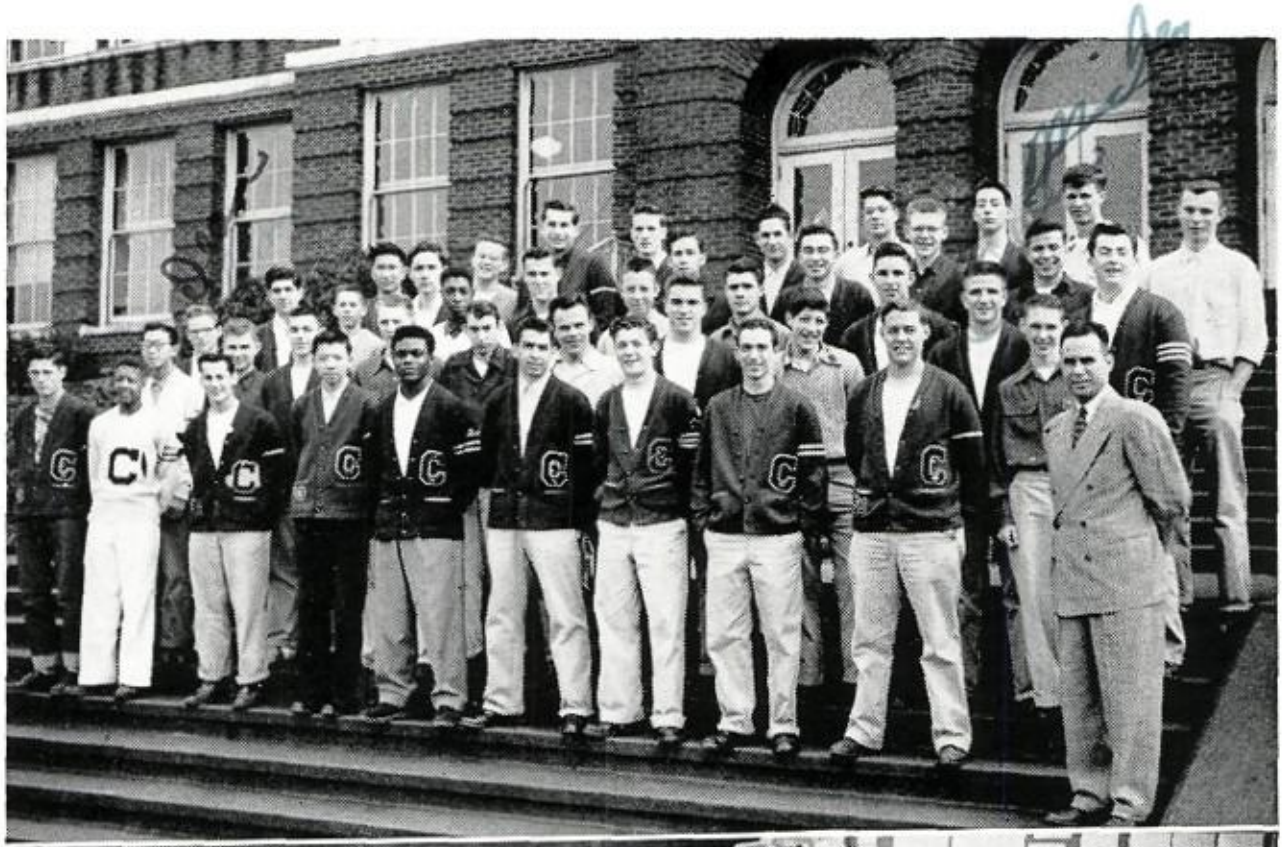
Setting up the rules and regulations is not the only job of the Student Council. The representatives from the many school organizations that make up the Council have planned and perfected rules which make Cleveland a better school to attend. Girls' Club President, Beverly Bullock, was president first semester; Phil Leach, Boys' Club President, led the group second term. An efficient secretary was Gloria Isernio, whose carefully kept minutes made the entire school aware of the doings of the Council. Among the items they handled which were beneficial to all Clevelandites were the following: The smoking problem, sportsmanship in connection with the Inter-Hi Council, the paper drive, Halloween, a campaign to keep the newly-painted building clean, a Lock Your Locker drive, and the possibility of roll room forums. The Student Council was very fortunate also to have Dr. Taba, a well-known authority on school organizations, speak to them. With this only a part of their activities, the 1951 Student Council has been an asset to the school.

Forestry Club

Memorial Forest, our dedication to the Cleveland boys lost during World War II, is taken care of with top-notch efficiency by the boys of the Forestry Club. Led by Mr. Edgerton and Mr. Gray, the Forestry Club is an important part of the extra-curricular activities at Cleveland.

Student Court

Not to punish, but to assist and help is the job of the Student Court. Like the Council, this law-enforcing group is made up of representatives from different organizations. However, the members are elected through popular vote. Aided by Mr. Imus, this group deserves much recognition for they have gained the respect of all while doing their job with courtesy. The Student Council is an example of what students will plan for their own improvement. Only two years old, the Court was organized by students who could foresee what such an organization could do for a school.



Lettermen's Club

Since the Lettermen's Club was organized several years ago, it has grown each year until now, we find it the useful and well-thought-of organization it has become. Composed of the letter-winners, no task is beyond their ability. Handling the problem of smoking is merely one of the many jobs which the club has handled with success. First semester officers were Jerry Redmond, Jerry Arnold and Bob Tessandore; second semester leaders by popular vote were Larry Reese, Myron Anton and Bill Rosebrook. A letterman has become something more than a boy who turns out for inter-high sports. Our lettermen are sought-after boys because they serve the school well, trying always to help Cleveland through its difficulties with the result of a good name for the school.

Hi-Flyers

One of the most active organizations is the Hi-Flyers, a Boys' Club affiliated group, whose aim is to serve. Ushering and parking cars, and also taking charge of the "Clothes for Korea" drive held in mid-March are just a few of the services they did. With Mr. Joice as adviser, Gail Knapp as president, and the hard-working boys that make up Hi-Flyers, it is no wonder they are so beneficial to the school. A Hi-Flyer member may always be distinguished by the white sweaters he wears.

Entre Nous Tres

Entre Nous Tres, the Language Club, is made up of students who are taking or have taken a foreign language. Each year they have a fudge sale, the proceeds of which go to CARE. The 1951 officers were Kay Krueger, Gail Knapp, Shirley Ann Currie and James Lambo. Mrs. Malcolm and Mrs. Angell head the group.

"To Grover Cleveland Junior-Senior High School, Seattle, Washington for the sound publicity ideas of the librarian put across with the imaginative help of teen-agers." That is the inscription on a plaque received by our library from the John Cotton Dana award. It is a national honor based upon the best publicity given a school library judged by a scrapbook of their activities.

Not only is our library well-known for the award, but we are fortunate to have a nationally prominent librarian. Miss Leavitt was addressing a group in Spokane when the Library Staff picture was taken.

Choir

Band

Under the direction of Mr. Ellis and Mrs. Wartelle, the music department has become one of the finest in the city.

The Orchestra has performed for many functions including The Cleveland Story, Too Many Dates, and possibly Commencement.

The A Cappella choir—a singing group containing fifty-seven voices—has become city-renowned for the entertainment it has provided at civic functions. This is in addition to the many times they have performed for assemblies, P.-T.A. meetings, Spring Concert, Girls' Club Installation, and of course, they have continued to bring Christmas cheer and excitement to all by caroling in the halls.

Football games . . . that is where Cleveland's band excels! This group plays an important part at each game by raising the spirit of the student body, who in turn root the team to top performance. Playing is not their sole accomplishment, however. Performing stunts with Lorene Steven's cooperative drill team at the pep rallies is one of their most-appreciated accomplishments. The band's activities do not end there though, for they are always willing to play at any assembly or school-sponsored function.

Annual Staff

Joanne Ragan, Mr. Snyder, Mimi Beltramo, Mary Atkinson, Dick Foisy, Doris Kubata, Claudia Sims, Mary Rex. Carol Richardson.

"1—2—3—Did Dick get his baseball copy in—4 Joanne had to do those pictures over again—Mimi never did find out that boy's name, or did she—Mary had so much last-minute typing to do—Gosh, did Claudia ever write the acknowledgements—5—6—Carol had those books right up to date, though—7—8—." That is a peek into the thoughts of one of the annual staff's members—any member—as he is trying desperately to go to sleep via the method of counting sheep. Problems about the Aquila keep popping into mind, though. Thus, the night life of a staff member. By the way, the people in the picture are responsible for the annual. If they look tired, harassed, over-wrought and especially hard-worked, this book is the cause and result.

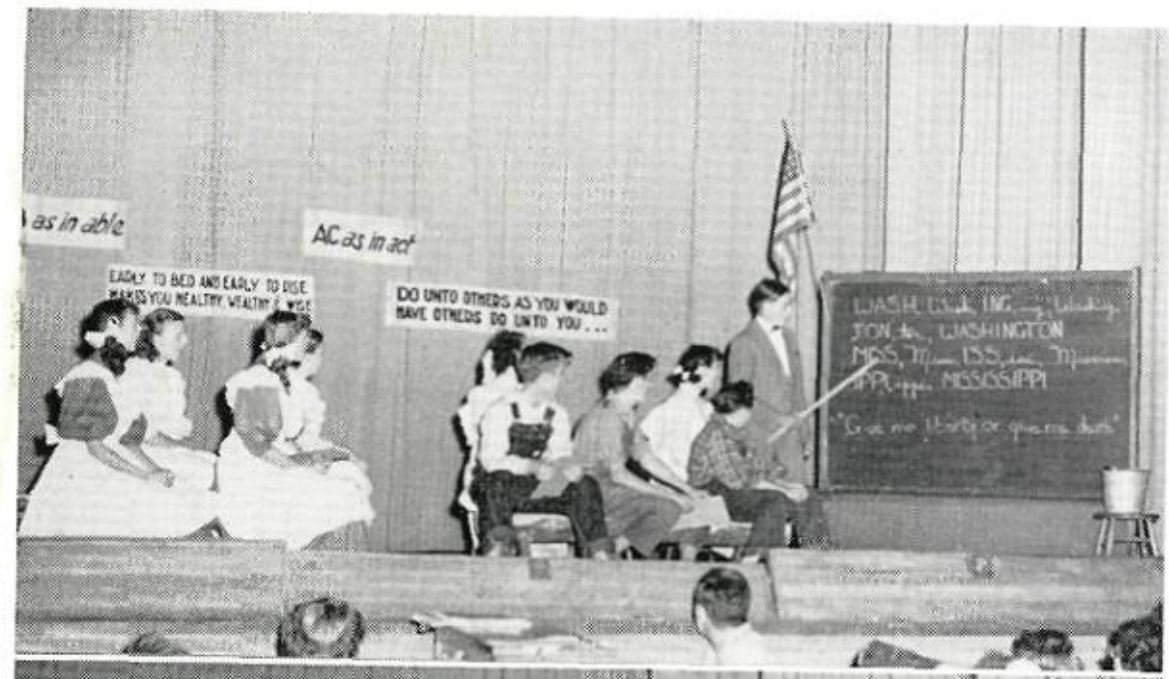
Journalism, P.-T. A. Dance

"That copy must go to the printers today." "Mary, is my story typed yet?" "An editorial? How can I, a feature specialist, ever write an editorial?" "But, Mr. Snyder, I've asked everyone, and no one knows when the Presidents' Council is to meet at Cleveland." Enter, all who dare, 308, where a CLEVELAND JOURNAL is put out twice a month 'mid confusion, typewriters that don't type, old copy, and bewildered reporters. In spite of all, though, the paper is out on schedule and is always appreciated by its loyal readers.

Furnishing sweet music for easy dancing are Cleveland's own Dream Senders. Having played for all the P-TA dances as well as other special affairs, they have made a name as a hard-working group always seeking to improve. The spotlight must also be focused on Mrs. Burns, the adult in charge

To give P-TA dances that are colossal and guarantee fun for all is the job of bright-eyed Pat Huff, hard-working Fred Kuhblank and their energetic crew of fifteen. Sponsoring an affair as wonderful as the Cleveland P-TA dances twice a month is no easy task. Yet, through their efforts and the cooperation of the P-TA, the dances have decorations, favors, prizes and well-thought-out plans that deserve praise.



The Cleveland Story

Cleveland's history was ripe and ready — just waiting to be plucked by a laboratory writing class with foresight to see how the school's background could be turned into a colorful and delightful pageant. Miss Margaret Walthew, who taught laboratory writing in the spring of '50, did see this possibility and set her class to work on research, writing, more research and more writing. The result: "The Cleveland Story"—a pageant presented by the school in November.

Time from the days when Georgetown wasn't even a part of Seattle and had no school of its own to the tragedies of World II was explored and thought out by the students when writing and planning. Finally, when the successful pageant was presented in the fall, these students had their names in print as playwrights: Marlene Johnson, Grace O'Brian, Claudia Sims, Jackie Yocum, Marilyn Willers, Patricia Hodgson. Miss Walthew, the sponsor, was given much applause for the work she had done.

Then, after the writing, came the part of presenting a huge affair such as this. That is where Miss Blanche Phimister, her classes, the talented Cleveland students, and the many members of faculty and student body who contribute their time to Cleveland productions started work. After more work, planning, cutting and building, the Cleveland Story was presented November 2 and 3 to an appreciative and highly entertained audience. It was a success and something that Cleveland can always look back to with pride and pleasure.

Some of the especially clever scenes were the ones depicting the first school house and ice cream parlor rendezvous, Mr. Maginnis' dancing class, the Girls' Club Installations, and as a last scene, the plaint of the portable teachers.

Too Many Dates

Reviewers of the senior play, "Too Many Dates," written by Marrijane and Joseph Hayes, found it not only sparkling, but humorous and true-to-life. Future Hollywood and Broadway personalities who gave their first performances March 2 and 3 were Darlene Roscoe, Gerald Kerns, Irma Tague, Donna Roedel, Al Gilmore, Jannis Young, Phil Leach, Kay Krueger, Margaret Foccona, Peggy Jorenby, Bob Ellingson, Victor Nelson, Gary Heacock, Pat Sullivan, Donna Fletcher, Iris Watt, Mary Neumeyer, Bob Kerns, Jerry Redmond, Larry Reese, Rose Carlone, Carol Richardson and Jack Koegle. Cleveland's ace drama coach, Miss Blanche Phimister, directed the play in the successful manner which has become expected of her.

As the title indicates, the play's climax arrives when the heroine, Louanne Millar, finds herself confronted with three blind dates for a picnic. Earlier, the cute but spoiled girl fought with her boyfriend, which canceled the one date she had planned on. Other complications set in when little sister has a Girl Scout meeting in the house, father finds he must baby-sit in order to maintain peace within the family, the busybody spinster snoops past all reason and the picnic moves to the Millar house because of the weather conditions.

On the production end—an essential one—of the play were the many members of the faculty and student body who contributed their time and efforts in order that this might be a "better-than-ever" senior play.

Behind the scene helpers were Joanne Ragan, Wilma Ruehlen, ushers from the senior class; Mr. Joice, Miss Hanson, Mr. Walker and members from the art classes, office training class and ticket committee. Not to be forgotten is the praiseworthy stage crew who finally — to the relief of everyone — got the scenery and props set up by March 2.

Acknowledgments

Here we are, at the end of the Annual, and for the AQUILA Staff, the end of a road of hard work, struggles, lack of sleep, but above all, fun and excitement. But the burden of putting out a good yearbook was not solely the job of the staff. Our sincere appreciation for much help and cooperation go to the following people who made the 1951 AQUILA the book it is:

MR. BOB WRIGHT of Western Engraving.

MR. ROY G. ROSENTHAL of the University Printing Company.

MR. REAULT of Reault's Bindery.

MRS. THELMA DE LONG, MRS. LUCILLE CULLITON and MISS VENETTA LANDER of MacDougall's Photo Studio.

Not to be forgotten is MR. HAROLD SYDER, our patient adviser, who was invaluable to us when things got in a tight spot. Then there are the many students, who in their free moments, would do "odd jobs" for us. Thank you, one and all...
